Summer cocktails at the Livingston, a World Cup party at 10 Degrees and West Midtown Corner Tavern

By Carly Felton

Summertime means it's socially acceptable to indulge in every type of fruit alcoholic beverage imaginable. At Livingston Restaurant and Bar—located at the Georgian Terrace Hotel across the street from the Fox Theatre—two new fruity libation creations are available for summer.

Savoy Sunset offers a twist on the traditional tequila sunrise with Maestro Dobel Diamond Reposado tequila, Thatcher's Blood Orange organic liqueur, fresh lime juice, a splash of orange juice and sour mix. The cocktail is topped with a Cara Cara orange slice. The Mean Green, which plays off the basic mojito, is made with rum, pureed cucumber, Thatcher's Cucumber organic liqueur, muddled mint, simple syrup, a splash of soda water and lime. The drink is shaken and served over ice with a cucumber garnish.

Livingston Restaurant and Bar is located in the Georgian Terrace Hotel at 659 Peachtree St. NE. For more information and reservations, call 404-897-1991 or visit www.livingstonatlanta.com.
