BUSINESS BRIEFS

Livingston

New York-based Fremont Realty Capital, in partnership with Puccini Group, recently announced Gary Mennie will serve as executive chef at Livingston, the new restaurant to open across the street from The Fox Theatre in Midtown April 24. An award-winning veteran of the Atlanta culinary scene, Mennie was selected for his extensive background in fine dining and his passion for preparing exceptional cuisine.

"We are excited that Gary chose to begin the next chapter of his Atlanta culinary career at Livingston," said Matt Reidy, Fremont Realty Capital senior managing director.

The new restaurant takes its name from Livingston Mims, who served as Atlanta's mayor during the early 20th century.

Known as a consummate entertainer with a passion for wine and fine food, Mims' two-story residence was located on the northeast corner of Peachtree Street and Ponce de Leon Avenue.
